52.	evidence in yo	vidence in your case - or do you think new testing could develop new ur case - which the jury did not hear in your original trial that would ur actual innocence/wrongful conviction?
	Some possible of	examples could include:

a) A DNA test that a lab could perform on the crime scene evidence that would conclusively prove you did not commit the crime.

Conviction Review Unit Page 12 of 14

- b) A DNA test that a lab could perform that would point to someone else having committed the crime.
- c) A DNA test on the crime scene evidence that could be put in the national DNA database of convicted felons that might match to a convicted felon showing that person actually committed the crime.
- d) A key state witness against you at the time you were convicted who has recanted his or her testimony. By "recanted," we mean the witness is now saying he or she lied against you before, or was mistaken before, and that they are now saying something different that shows you are innocent.
- e) A new witness who has recently come forward, and who did not testify before, who can now testify that you are innocent. This can be someone who saw the crime and says it was someone else they saw do it, or someone who provides you with a solid alibi because they were with you somewhere else when the crime occurred.
- f) Other new science other than DNA, such as gunshot residue analysis or new arson science, that could be performed on the crime scene evidence and would show you are innocent. (Note: lead bullet analysis and arson science have really advanced in recent years. Many old methods that might have been used to convict you are now considered inaccurate. If you were convicted as a result of arson science or gunshot residue analysis, new studies showing those methods were flawed and could constitute new evidence).
- g) Evidence your lawyer did not present that could have proven you innocent.
- h) Do you have any "new evidence" or is there any "new testimony" that you believe could develop new evidence? Please state what that is.

Note: The above list is not a complete list of examples and this type of evidence does not necessarily demonstrate actual innocence/wrongful conviction in every case. The list is included simply to provide some examples of evidence the jury did not hear which could, depending on the facts of your case, be used to demonstrate actual innocence or that you were wrongfully convicted.

53.	If you are writing to the Conviction Review Unit claiming you are wrongfully convicted, but not actually innocent OR received a disproportionately and/or unfairly long sentence, please explain if there is new evidence supporting these claims, e.g., evidence of an officer's misconduct has come to light through another case or a new witness has come forward that demonstrates you are guilty of a lesser charge or crime rather than the crime for which you were sentenced.
54.	If you are saying you did not commit the crime, do you know who committed the crime(s) of which you were convicted? If yes, please name them below and provide that person's whereabouts (if known).
	☐ Yes ☐ No
55.	How do you know that this person committed the crime?
